

2015 Mathematical Contest in Modeling® Press Release—April 6, 2015

COMAP is pleased to announce the results of the 31st annual Mathematical Contest in Modeling (MCM). This year, 7636 teams representing institutions from seventeen countries participated in the contest. Ten teams from the following institutions were designated as OUTSTANDING WINNERS:

Bethel University, Arden Hills, MN (MAA & Frank Giordano Award)
Central South University, China (Ben Fusaro Award)
Chongqing University, China (SIAM Award)
Colorado College, Colorado Springs, CO (INFORMS Award)
Northwestern Polytechnical University, China
State University of New York, University at Buffalo, Buffalo, NY (MAA Award)
Tsinghua University, China
University of Adelaide, Australia (INFORMS Award)
University of Colorado Boulder, Boulder, CO (SIAM Award)
University of Colorado Boulder, Boulder, CO

This year's contest ran from Thursday, February 5 to Monday, February 9, 2015. During that time, teams of up to three undergraduate or high school students researched, modeled, and submitted a solution to one of two modeling problems. The 2015 MCM was primarily an online contest. Teams registered, obtained contest materials, and downloaded the problem and data at the prescribed time through COMAP's MCM Website.

This year the two MCM problems represented significant challenges. The author of the A problem is Professor William Fox. The problem was "Eradicating Ebola".

The world medical association has announced that their new medication could stop Ebola and cure patients whose disease is not advanced. Build a realistic, sensible, and useful model that considers not only the spread of the disease, the quantity of the medicine needed, possible feasible delivery systems, locations of delivery, speed of manufacturing of the vaccine or drug, but also any other critical factors your team considers necessary as part of the model to optimize the eradication of Ebola, or at least its current strain. In addition to your modeling approach for the contest, prepare a 1-2 page non-technical letter for the world medical association to use in their announcement.

The B problem was authored by Professor William Fox, entitled "Searching for a lost plane".

Recall the lost Malaysian flight MH370. Build a generic mathematical model that could assist "searchers" in planning a useful search for a lost plane feared to have crashed in open water such as the Atlantic, Pacific, Indian, Southern, or Arctic Ocean while flying from Point A to Point B. Assume that there are no signals from the downed plane. Your model should recognize that there are many different types of planes for which we might be searching and that there are many different types of search planes, often using different electronics or sensors. Additionally, prepare a 1-2 page non-technical paper for the airlines to use in their press conferences concerning their plan for future searches.

A selection from the Outstanding solution papers will be featured in The UMAP Journal, along with commentaries from the problem authors and judges. All 7636 of the competing teams are to be congratulated for their excellent work and enthusiasm for mathematical modeling and interdisciplinary problem solving.

Major funding for the MCM is provided by COMAP. Additional support is provided by the Institute for Operations Research and the Management Sciences (INFORMS) and Two Sigma Investments. COMAP's Mathematical Contest in Modeling and Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling are unique among modeling competitions in that they are the only international contests in which students work in teams to find a solution. Centering its educational philosophy on mathematical modeling, COMAP uses mathematical tools to explore real-world problems. It serves the educational community as well as the world of work by preparing students to become better informed—and prepared—citizens, consumers, and workers.
